GO BREAK AGAINST THE STRIKERS.

Police Called on in New London While Brattleboro Shows Violence—Union Men Can Get No Meals Along Line.There is little change in the strike situation on this end of the Central Vermont road. Although running its passenger trains quite regularly, the Central Vermont railroad has not been able to do much with the freight problem. The strikers seem content to let matters take their course and are quietly awaiting the time when their requests will be granted, which in their opinion is bound to come. The railroad officials have displayed no intention of relenting and hold firm to the stand they have taken. It is considered that in a short time the conditions on the road will be such that it will be running its trains, and at this end they are working night and day in an effort to break the strike.

Freight Steamers Resume Trips.

The freight steamers of the company, which were taken off the line Wednesday night, resumed their trips Thursday night. The freighter New York, which was tied up at the wharf of the company in East New London, made the trip to New York with 12 cars of hay and a considerable amount of merchandise. The New London steamer in New London with a large cargo of freight.All the through passenger trains are being run out of New London on the although the passengers are few. The trains due are arriving at the Union station with considerable regularity.
John McCraw, general agent, arrived at New London Thursday night. Another passenger was a strike breaker who had been injured in Brattleboro Thursday afternoon by some one in a crowd which had been a fight with strike breakers. The injured man was taken to the office of Supt. Costello, where he received medical attention from Dr. John G. Stanton. The man had several broken ribs and an injured foot.

Will Establish Food Supplies.

John H. Galleher, agent for the Central Vermont railway at its New York pier, was a passenger on the steamer New London from New York Thursday night. Mr. Galleher will be occupied in establishing food stations at points along the railroad line north of New London, where the strike breakers. This was made necessary because of the fact that people, most of whom are in sympathy with the strikers, refuse to furnish the men who take their place with food.Quarters for the strike breakers have also been prepared in East New London. Several box cars have been filled up, in which they can live, these being the only available means of providing shelter. Previous to Thursday night the men were quartered on the steamer.

COMPETITIVE EXAMINATION
FOR ANNAPOLIS APPOINTMENTS.Two Vacancies to Be Filled by Congressman Higgins from this District.On Friday Congressman Higgins announced that there will be two vacancies from this congressional district at the United States naval academy, to be filled by his appointment—two principals and for each principal three alternate appointments for the entrance examinations, the first to be held on the third Tuesday in April and the second and last examination on the third Tuesday in June.It has been a number of years since these appointments have been open to competition in this district.
Congressman Higgins has designated Henry A. Tirrell of the Norwich Free Academy, Walter A. Towne of the Bulkeley High school and Chesman C. Spratt of the Putnam High school an examination committee to pass upon the mental qualifications and general fitness of appointees for these appointments.These preliminary examinations will be held at the Norwich Free Academy on the 17th, 18th and 19th of November next, and those passing the most satisfactory examinations will receive scholarships.Those desiring to take the examination should send their application on blanks furnished by the congressman, or Mr. Tirrell, and this application should be accompanied by a report from the candidate's family physician as to his physical condition, and also from the candidate's last teacher of his fitness for study.The examining committee, who pass upon the qualifications of candidates, is a representative one, and it is the congressman's hope that this method of selection will be favorably accepted.In the second congressional district and in many others this practice has been followed in making the appointments for a good many years. It is not recalled that it has ever been done in this district.street left here on Friday for a two weeks' visit with friends in Meriden.Mrs. Rosalie Tetraut and son, Eugene Tetraut, of Providence street, Mass.Adelard Main, a keeper at George G. Grant's livery stable, is away for a two months' stay in Canada. He expects to visit friends in Montreal and St. Anne.Miss Labarre, daughter of Joseph Labarre, of South B street, is a patient at the W. B. Backus hospital where she has lately undergone an operation for appendicitis.Miss Marcella, daughter of Hector Marcella, who lives on the old Stanton farm on the Canterbury turnpike, has lately been poisoned quite badly by poison ivy.James White, Archie Norman, Leo Jacques and Fred Caron leave today (Saturday) for a two weeks' camping at Ocean Beach. They will go down to Ocean Beach in a steam launch.Michael Sullivan, Frank Gignas, Patrick Sullivan and Mr. Whitaker have just completed their work on Amble DeLander's and will leave today here today (Saturday) for Willimantic.Letters addressed to the following have been forwarded at the Taftville postoffice: Monsieur Victor Collin, Mr.
Dapello Michell, Mr. Joseph Gouin, Matvey Matkowsky, Al Signor Rosino D'Agostino.John Goyette, Adelard Goyette, Joseph Porter, William Varnille and Fred Cadoretti were among those who have gone to Watch Hill with the state militia. They are registered with the Fifth company.Mrs. Napoleon Dauphinais, who has been visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Peter Benoit, on Front street, for a month, left here Friday for her home in Montreal, Canada. She will stop for a few days at the home of her sister, Mrs. Benoit, on Front street, and will leave for her home in Montreal with her brother, C. L. Damara.parted for Brattleboro, where considerable difficulty is being experienced because of the hostility of the people of that place to the strike breakers.
Sympathy is altogether with the strikers there, and every opportunity which has presented itself has been taken advantage of to make it disagreeable for the new men.The strike breakers are not the only ones who are receiving discomfort along the line of the road. Engineers and firemen running the trains are being subjected to insults and abuse from the strike sympathizers.
One engineer running a train stated Thursday night he and his fireman had been the target of all kinds of abuse thrown at them by people in towns through which they run.

Police Call in New London.

For the first time since the strike was started a disturbance which necessitated the calling of police assistants occurred at New London Friday morning. Someone, thought to be a strike breaker, fired a shot from a pistol into the air from the top of one of the freight cars in the yard of the Central Vermont railway in East New London. The matter was reported at police headquarters and Patrolmen Benjamin White and Charles A.
Pinney were sent to the scene of the firing. Two strike breakers were taken into custody and brought to police headquarters, where they were questioned regarding the shooting. As they were able to furnish proof that they were in no way responsible for the shot, they were released by Captain Ghot.The firing of the shot was the result of the hostility which has been displayed against the strike breakers by the women and boys in the vicinity of East New London. For the past two or three days this hostility has taken the form of stoning the freight cars as they pass through the yard of the Central Vermont railway. Friday morning a couple of women, assisted by several youngsters, took to stoning the cars and hurling other missiles.
The pistol shot was fired probably as a means of intimidating the offenders.As a result of Friday morning's disturbance the authorities of the Central Vermont railway in New London have asked for police protection. Several superintendents have been detailed to report to duty, and the yards of the road in this city will be policed.
There is no evidence as yet that the strikers are in any way responsible for the action of the women and boys toward the strike breakers. The strikers have asserted that they will not sanction any displays of violence and that they have thus far lived up to this policy. On the other hand, one of the strikers in New London reported that the strikers were aware that the strike breakers are nearly all armed.

OLD LYME FERRY

IS 250 YEARS OLD.

Established About Time Norwich Was Founded—Washington Crossed There.Most of the automobile owners up and down the Connecticut river valley know the Lyme ferry. Many of them have paid the small fee for taking them from one side of the river to the other and have remarked at the convenience of the arrangement, but few have realized that the ferry between Lyme and Saybrook has been in existence since the days of the settlement of the colony and has borne noted men across the bosom of the Connecticut.
The ferry is about 250 years old, older than all but two or three of the towns of the state. It was established by the general court in 1662, has been in use continuously since, and is the oldest ferry in the state and possibly in New England. In the early days the charges were twelve cents for a man on horseback and six cents for a man afoot. In 1696 the charges were eight cents for a man on horseback and three cents for a man afoot. In those days the ferryman did a thriving business, for this route was the principal one between New York and Boston.The officers of the king of England were much in evidence in those days, and they pestered the ferryman with their money requests. They were to be speedily taken across in all sorts of weather or at any hour of the night or day. To make the matter more troublesome, the ferryman was not allowed to charge an officer of the king. In 1732, therefore, the general court was politely informed by certain prominent men of Saybrook that they were weary of carrying the king's officers free of charge. The court mollified them somewhat by allowing them to add a few pennies to the charge of the common people.April 9, 1776, was a proud day for the Lyme ferry, for that day the ferry-man carried Gen. George Washington across to Saybrook on his way to New York. In September of the same year four companies of Continental troops, marching from New York, kept the ferry-man busy for several hours.
A few days after the battle of Groton Heights, near New London, on September 8, 1781, the dead bodies of five soldiers were carried across the ferry and buried in the old burying ground at Saybrook Point. Among them was the body of a last whose grave bears this inscription: Daniel, son of Capt.
Charles and Mrs. Temperance Williams, who fell in the action on Fort Griswold, on Groton Hill, on the 6th of September, 1781, in the 15th year of his age.Jabez Stowe, who was the first to bring the news of the above battle to Lyme, probably crossed this ferry, reaching Saybrook about 4 o'clock in the morning. During his second visit to this country, General Lafayette crossed the ferry and is said to have been met on the banks of the river by all the school children of the town of Lyme, who showered him with flowers.
